

SNAP HOOK

A snap hook is a type of fastening device or connector that consists of a hinged hook with a spring-loaded gate or latch. It is designed to quickly and securely attach or detach various objects, such as ropes, chains, straps, or other hardware. Snap hooks are widely used in a range of applications, including climbing, boating, rigging, and general utility.

